

INTRODUCTION

I’m a software designer and developer who strives to create good-experience digital products. Proudly having many skills that span a spectrum of disciplines, I use them to solve problems in creative, organized, and programmatic ways.

CAREER OBJECTIVE

Despite having more experience in design, I’m looking for an engineer-driven role in which I could enhance my technical skills and dig into the product development process. Furthermore, it will be best if I can work in a position like UX Engineer - the dream job that makes use of my programming and design skills.
